"All you need is 7"

Who says you can't have it all?

Greater New Haven is truly an all-inclusive destination. One of the most unique aspects of our compact region is the opportunity to have a robust city experience, a relaxing shoreline retreat and an invigorating country adventure without spending hours in the car.

The Downtown Vibe

The region's core city positively shines as a center for dining, shopping and culture. With 130 restaurants within walking distance of the New Haven Green, foodies converge here to savor flavors from around the world. The restaurant scene is distinctive for its eclectic mix of cuisines and restrained number of chain restaurants. The diversity of our residents and visitors is highlighted in our fare.

Shopping in New Haven continues to evolve with a commitment to small business and to providing unique merchandise through the highest quality retailers. Old favorites, such as Wave, Raggs, Trailblazer and idiom, continue to offer refreshing options from the big box stores. Newer endeavors, such as Kiko Milano, Emporium DNA and Kixters, deliver new and specialized alternatives.

If the Arts are your thing, you've got plenty of choices. Both Long Wharf Theatre and Shubert Theatre have strong traditions of providing a diverse variety of performances. The Yale University Art Gallery continues to glow since its $135 million makeover in 2012, and the Knights of Columbus Museum wows with its exquisite exhibition of sacred art and artifacts. As part of Yale University's ongoing commitment to preserve its extensive collections, both the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library and the Yale Center for British Art are undergoing extensive renovations. The Yale Center for British Art is scheduled to reopen in May 2016 and the Beinecke in September 2016.

A Shoreline Getaway

With a coastline that extends from Milford to Clinton along Long Island Sound, complete with two waterfront State Parks (Silver Sands and Hammonasset Beach), surf and sand lovers will be in their glory. Whether your inclination is to sail, kayak or read a book with your toes in the sand, there are plenty of beaches from which to choose.

Our shoreline towns offer more than just great access to Long Island Sound. They pride themselves on their traditional New England town centers with charming boutiques and delightful restaurants.

Head North

The upper portion of our region tends to be more rural with lovely vineyards and wineries as well as Lyman Orchards, a family owned and operated farm since 1741. Lyman Orchards is recognized as the twelfth oldest family-owned business in America.

If you are a fan of outdoor activities, you are in luck. Climbing the peaks of Sleeping Giant State Park or tubing at Powder Ridge Mountain Park and Resort are just a taste of the adventures waiting for you.

Creativity and imagination abound

In Greater New Haven, the arts are an integral part of daily life. Certainly we have outstanding musical performances, a theater community with an established past and vibrant future, not to mention the world-class museums, but more importantly is the art that surrounds you during everyday activities.

Anywhere you go, you will see public art, exquisite architecture and historic monuments. On Chapel Street in New Haven, you will stand in awe of Varini's Square with Four Circles (or for the full effect, run up and down the alley). In the summer, you can find a concert on a town green almost every night of the week.

Some of the highlights of the Arts community include the New Haven Symphony Orchestra, Ireland's Great Hunger Museum, the International Festival of Arts & Ideas, City-wide Open Studios, Yale University Art Gallery, Yale Peabody Museum, Knights of Columbus Museum, Shubert Theatre, Yale Rep and Long Wharf Theatre.

With the eagerly awaited reopening of the Yale Center for British Art in the spring, the renowned collection of British art, largely the gift of Paul Mellon (Yale College Class of 1929), will be completely reinstalled in the stunning sky-lit galleries on the fourth floor and in the beautiful galleries on the second floor. In the fourth quarter of 2016, the Beinecke Rare Book and Manuscript Library will also debut its upgrades.

We are thrilled that 2016 will be another banner year for the Arts in Greater New Haven!

For a region of less than 600,000 people, our global impact is indisputable.

We're old and proud of it

With more than 375 years under our belt, we've been around the block... more than once. From our Puritanical founding, through the Industrial Revolution, multiple waves of immigrants and the social changes of the 1960's, we have been inspired and transformed, without losing our identity.

As the home of Yale University, Greater New Haven plays a pivotal role around the world. The region has been home to future Presidents, Supreme Court Justices, Nobel Prize winners, journalism trailblazers and artistic icons. It is critical to remember that just as we have been influenced by them, they have also been shaped by us. We may be a region of less than 600,000 people, but our global impact is indisputable.

To learn more about our past, the New Haven Museum provides a comprehensive overview of the history of the City of New Haven, while the historical societies of the suburban towns weave their own tales. The Yale University Campus Tour is a must-do for history buffs. As the stories of New Haven and Yale are so interconnected, the tour serves as both a welcome to Yale University and the City of New Haven.

Fresh, just the way you like it

The growing season brings opportunities for restaurants to update their menus with fresh-from-the-farm appetizers, entrées, side dishes and desserts.

Many of our restaurants have enthusiastically embraced the produce of our local farmers. You'll see that the menus vary more often than the seasons as our imaginative chefs integrate the fresh ingredients into both new and traditional recipes. The growing season brings opportunities for the restaurants to change up their customary menus with fresh from the farm appetizers, entrées, side dishes and desserts.

For slightly more mainstream fresh produce menus, visit 116 Crown, Basta Trattoria, Caseus, Heirloom at The Study, Home, Zinc, and The Wharf at the Madison Beach Hotel for a homegrown twist on their delicious offerings.

While we love our local farmers, we also adore the flavors from around the world. The region offers delectable cuisine from Asia, Austria, Japan, Cuba, and beyond.

Olea
Creamy Butternut Squash

And last, but certainly not least, is the legendary thin-crust, New Haven-style pizza. While this used to refer solely to Pepe's and Sally's, there are countless new contenders for the title of most delicious pizza. Try any pizza parlor in the region and you are virtually guaranteed a delicious pizza pie.

We take play very seriously.

While we may be best known for our culture and dining, our outdoor attractions are equally outstanding. In April, everyone heads outside to enjoy the first hint of spring and the annual festivals celebrating the new season. The Daffodil Festival in Hubbard Park in Meriden radiates a golden glow with its 600,001 blooms, while the Japanese cherry blossoms along Wooster Street are fleeting, but stunning. Hiking and biking rev up after their winter hiatus and the town centers hum with activity.

Summer may unofficially kick off on Memorial Day, but the definitive arrival of the season for the region is the International Festival of Arts & Ideas. This two-week event marks the beginning of the region's fairs and festivals. From arts and crafts to corn and potatoes, there is something for everyone. Our sparkling beaches also beckon, including two beachfront State Parks, Hammonasset Beach (Madison) and Silver Sands (Milford). The boardwalk in West Haven draws residents and visitors alike for an evening stroll.

As summer departs, autumn brings new delights, including the North Haven and Durham agricultural fairs. As in most New England towns, fall is highlighted by nature's display of dazzling foliage. Typically, peak viewing is enjoyed from mid-October through mid-November depending on fickle Mother Nature. When you're here checking out the leaves is the perfect time to pick your own apples and pumpkins at one of our many farms.

The holidays arrive with traditional tree lightings and festive musical and theatrical performances. Shoppers will delight at the wide assortment of unexpected offerings from our unique boutiques and exciting pop-up shops.

You can welcome the New Year with the annual hike at Sleeping Giant State Park or the Polar Plunge at Lighthouse Point Park as each is breathtaking in its own way. Enjoy the exhilaration while skiing, tubing and snowboarding at Powder Ridge Mountain and Resort. Soon, the eagles will return to the Connecticut River and the seals to the Thimble Islands (in March) and spring will make its glorious return.

For year-round play, check out the brand new Jordan's Furniture on Long Wharf. In addition to its sofas and tables, it also offers a spectacular recreation center IT™, including the largest indoor ropes course in the world.
